

AK 2071
BROWN AND GREEN
CAMOUFLAGE

Many modellers struggle as they have to choose a color to accentuate the panel lines of an aircraft. We did the thinking for you and offer you the right color for each scheme, ready to use. This saves you time and effort and you can proceed easily with your model.

Accentuating panel lines really brings an aircraft model to life. Thus this means it's a very important part of the weathering.

Paint on the product directly from the bottle.

After 5 till 10 minutes clean the excess paint off with a brush moistened with White Spirit.

This method is fast and easy to use with a perfect result.

Don't work on the whole model at once. Work in sections.

Apply the paint and let it set for about 5 till 10 minutes.

Clean off the excess with a clean brush and White Spirit.

This important step in aircraft weathering was never made so easy.
